Best Practices for Agency Communications

April 2, 2019

By: Whit Swift

Environmental professionals and attorneys are in constant contact with state and federal regulators, in a variety of contexts – regulatory advocacy, permitting, responding to investigations, and enforcement defense. Join representatives of Bracewell’s Environmental Strategies and Policy Resolution Groups for a webinar-tailored version of training sessions aimed at managing the sharing of information and effective exchanges with regulators. We will review key tips and practices for limiting risk and improving the effectiveness of your agency communications.
