About Nick

Nick Meyer focuses his practice on front-end infrastructure, projects and construction transactions. He regularly acts for procurers, lenders and sponsors/developers and advises on large scale infrastructure, transport, utility, energy and other development projects. Nick has particular experience advising on major commercial development deals, rail and road projects, water, renewables and social infrastructure.

Before joining Bracewell, Nick worked at an international law firm in Dubai, and a “Big 6” firm in Sydney.
