Alamdar Hamdani, former US Attorney for the Southern District of Texas, discussed with Texas Lawyer his thoughts on joining Bracewell in Houston.

Hamdani said that Houston-founded Bracewell has a “wonderful platform” for his practice, adding that he knew a number of the lawyers at the firm, including Seth DuCharme, chair of Bracewell’s government enforcement and investigations practice.

Bracewell is a firm with a “rich history,” Hamdani said, plus it has a national and international practice that fits with his Department of Justice experience.
