Bracewell labor and employment partner Brian Patterson shared with The Texas Lawbook his thoughts on joining the firm and what's in store for his practice.

"The firm's strong energy reputation and large Texas presence will likely bring more complex matters my way, but the core of my practice won't change drastically," Patterson said. "I've handled challenging cases throughout my career, and I'm looking forward to tackling new ones with Bracewell's resources behind me."
