Alamdar Hamdani, former US Attorney for the Southern District of Texas, expressed his thoughts with Law360 on joining Bracewell in its government enforcement and investigations practice.

“Joining Bracewell just made a lot of sense,” Hamdani said, adding that the firm is made up of “great people doing great work.”

“The firm itself has an 80-year history in my adopted home of Houston, and having worked in the Southern District of Texas for so many years, a firm with rich ties to Texas, [which] yet still has a well-regarded national white collar practice and enforcement practice, was meaningful to me,” Hamdani noted.
