Bracewell's Ann D. Navaro was recently featured by Law360 as a 2020 Environmental MVP after successfully defending Kinder Morgan Texas Pipeline and the Permian Highway Pipeline against three preliminary emergency motion hearings by opponents that sought to halt construction on a major natural gas pipeline project in West Texas.

"Defending three of those in a relatively short time frame on the same project was a significant team effort and certainly a satisfying victory on behalf of our clients," said Navaro.

Navaro, who is finishing her second year in private practice after more than two decades in the federal government, added, "I'm fortunate to work with colleagues on a very collaborative basis and effectively [help clients in] interpreting and getting through some very complex and opaque federal requirements."
