

Legal Q and A: Avoiding Environmental Reg Pitfalls

Media Mentions

March 03, 2022 | The Construction Broadsheet | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

Bracewell's Tim Wilkins participated in The Construction Broadsheet's "Legal Q and A" column to answer questions about how to avoid environmental regulatory pitfalls on construction projects.

Wilkins addressed an example of a sub-contractor coming across old barrels with hazardous material markings by saying, "Under the environmental laws, primary responsibility for waste disposal activities falls on the owner or operator of the facility where disposal has occurred, not on a contractor who merely happens to discover such disposal."

Click here to read more Q and A with Wilkins in The Construction Broadsheet.

Related People

Timothy A. Wilkins
Managing Partner – Austin
AUSTIN
+1.512.542.2134
tim.wilkins@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy

Related Practices

Environment, Lands and Resources
Litigation
Environmental Litigation