

Might Makes for LNG Opportunities

Media Mentions

June 19, 2020 | Energy Voice | 1 minute read | London

---

Bracewell's Nicholas Neuberger recently discussed with Energy Voice reporter Ed Reed how shifting away from liquefaction due to the pandemic-driven lockdowns have created new opportunities to increase the rate of expansion into the downstream.

"Coronavirus could trigger a move to greater integration in the value chain. This would help companies smooth out some of the pricing ups and downs, although this does create some new complexities," said Neuberger.

Click here to read more from *Energy Voice*.

Related People

Nicholas Neuberger

Partner

LONDON

+44.(0).207.448.4249

nicholas.neuberger@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy

Infrastructure

Related Practices

Infrastructure Development

Oil & Gas

Upstream Transactions