

Economic Development

Bracewell is nationally ranked in Chambers USA for our work on public-private partnerships, or P3s. We have extensive experience at every stage of major public finance and economic development projects, including the development or redevelopment of transportation, hospitality, arts, sports venues, energy and various other projects, such as the Texas Ranger Stadium, North Texas Tollway and Texas Medical Center.

We provide governmental entity clients with a range of legal services, including public finance, real estate, transportation and construction law. We also provide advice on tax incentives, economic development and PPP matters, representing a complete spectrum of public, private, non-profit and for-profit entities. When necessary, we help draft legislation and ordinances that create or amend state and local economic development programs.
