Suspension and Debarment: It's Not Just for Government Contractors

February 6, 2018

By: Robert J. Wagman Jr.

Companies facing environmental enforcement actions are at increased risk of being suspended and/or debarred because of a number of environmental statutory debarment mandates, state and local enforcement activities, as well as increased federal agency focus on debarring companies and individuals. Angela Styles and Bob Wagman lead a discussion on the suspension and debarment system and how companies can identify and mitigate the risks.
