

Madam Policy Featuring Camille Moore

Podcast | Madam Policy

February 23, 2024 | 1 minute read

On this episode, Madam Policy welcomes a rockstar in the energy space, Camille Moore, Senior Vice President of External Affairs at the American Association of Blacks in Energy (AABE). From being a Congressional Black Caucus Foundation Energy Fellow to an environmental Policy Advisor for the US Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe to joining AABE during the passage of the Inflation Reduction Act, Camille is and has been at the center of the energy sector. Camille joins hosts Dee Martin and Kendall Mitchell to discuss the work AABE is doing around the country to ensure community voices are being heard within the energy industry; the work Camille is doing as a member of the SWEEP Standard board; and more. Want to hear Camille's advice to women of color wanting to advance in the energy field? Tune in!

Related People

E. Dee Martin
Partner
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.5818
dee.martin@bracewell.com

Related Practices

Government Relations