

Midterms 2022 With Kristen Soltis Anderson! Keen Insight From Renowned Pollster, Author & Echelon Insights Founding Partner

Podcast | Madam Policy

November 02, 2022 | 1 minute read

“Data does not mean we know the future; it just means we can quantify our uncertainty.” Kristen Soltis Anderson, renowned pollster and author, wrote that in her ground-breaking book The Selfie Vote: Where Millennials Are Leading America. Widely recognized for having her finger on the pulse of the electorate, some of Kristin’s accolades include being one of Elle’s “Most Compelling Women in Washington;” Time’s “30 Under 30 Changing the World;” and Washingtonian’s “100 Tech Titans.”

A founding partner of Echelon Insights, Kristin sat down with the Madam Policy team to share her midterm 2022 insight with hosts Dee Martin, Yasmin Nelson, and Liam Donovan on this special episode discuss all things midterms 2022. Want to know which issue is more compelling for voters—reproductive choice or the economy? Tune in! What will happen in key Senate races in Georgia, Nevada, and Pennsylvania? Tune in! What is the role of social media on the elections? Tune in! As the 2022 midterms are less than a week away, this is an episode you won’t want to miss!

Related People

E. Dee Martin

Partner

WASHINGTON, DC

+1.202.828.5818

dee.martin@bracewell.com

Liam P. Donovan

Senior Political Strategist

WASHINGTON, DC

+1.202.828.5847

liam.donovan@bracewell.com

Related Practices

Government Relations