The Madam Policy Podcast · National Climate Advisor Gina McCarthy: Views from a White House Official on Seizing the Day, Using Your Voice, and Tackling Climate Change

Join us for a special episode of Madam Policy where your hosts Dee Martin and Yasmin Nelson are joined by Gina McCarthy, the first National Climate Advisor for the White House and Former EPA Administrator for President Obama. Advisor McCarthy discusses how she defines “success” when addressing an issue as big as climate change, why she believes the Biden Administration’s Build Back Better plan is an investment in the future, goals for infrastructure in the Black community and the role she believes hydrogen plays in addressing climate change.
