

Women in Environmental Law: Practical Advice You'll Actually Use

Podcast | Environmental Law Monitor

March 29, 2024 | 2 minute read

Environmental Law Monitor · Women in Environmental Law: Practical Advice You'll Actually Use

Women have become more prominent and influential in environmental law. What better time to celebrate and recognize women lawyers than during Women's History Month?

On this episode of the Bracewell Environmental Law Monitor, host Taylor Stuart is joined by three guests who focus their practice on environmental issues: Christine Wyman, senior counsel at Chevron, along with Brittany Pemberton, partner, and Sara Burgin, of counsel, in the environment, lands and resources practice at Bracewell.

Tune in to hear Taylor, Christine, Brittany and Sara reflect on the contributions of women to the environmental legal profession. They also share their personal career journeys and offer practical advice for other female lawyers.

Featured Guests

Name: Christine Wyman

About: Christine Wyman is a senior counsel at Chevron, providing legal support for the company's climate, environmental and energy transition policies. Prior to joining Chevron, Christine worked for Bracewell, where she represented energy clients on federal energy, environmental and climate policy matters and for a national trade association working on behalf of the natural gas industry.

Company: Chevron

Connect: LinkedIn

Related People

Taylor M. Stuart

Associate

WASHINGTON, DC

+1.202.828.1732

taylor.stuart@bracewell.com

Brittany M. Pemberton

Partner

WASHINGTON, DC

+1.202.828.1708

brittany.pemberton@bracewell.com

Sara M. Burgin

Counsel

AUSTIN

+1.512.494.3654

sara.burgin@bracewell.com

Related Practices

Environment, Lands and Resources

BRACEWELL

Name:Brittany Pemberton

About: Brittany Pemberton is an environment and natural resources partner in Bracewell's Washington, DC office. She advises energy, oil and gas, and industrial clients in environmental regulatory compliance and enforcement matters, including handling stationary source enforcement and compliance matters under the Clean Air Act (CAA) before the US Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state agencies.

Company:Bracewell

Connect:LinkedIn

Name:Sara Burgin

About: Sara Burgin uses her scientific background and more than 30 years of legal experience to assist clients with issues relating to water use, management and disposal. She advises on permitting, compliance and enforcement matters in association with onshore and offshore wastewater and storm water discharges; issues relating to surface water and ground water rights; water contracts; Spill Prevention, Control and Countermeasures (SPCC) plan requirements and applicability issues; Clean Water Act (CWA) jurisdiction; issues associated with public water systems at industrial facilities; and dredge and fill permit requirements.

Company:Bracewell

Connect:LinkedIn

Episode Highlights

[05:42] Building Connections in the Workplace: The way to connect with colleagues and clients is by sharing things about yourself and being authentic.

[11:26] Asking for More Information: Although it's difficult to admit you don't know something, it's better to say so early on rather than wait until it's too late.

[20:38] The Importance of Grace: It's just as important to give yourself grace as it is to have grace for others.

[27:56] Having a Niche vs. Being a Generalist: Having a niche provides value, but being able to apply those skills more broadly is also useful.

[31:12] Impostor Syndrome: Many women lawyers struggle with impostor syndrome. Don't buy into it! Trust yourself, and let other people trust you.

Connect With Us

BRACEWELL

☑☐ Have questions about what you have heard on this podcast? Contact Taylor Stuart.

☑☐ Connect with us on LinkedIn, X/Twitter, Facebook and Instagram.

☑☐ Subscribe to Environmental Law Monitor on Apple Podcasts, Spotify, or wherever you get your podcasts.

The opinions expressed in this podcast are those of the speakers and do not necessarily reflect the viewpoint of their institutions or clients.